

ELECTRONIC LITERATURE ORGANIZATION

www.eliterature.org

Featuring:

Invisible Seattle—Philip Wohlstetter and Rob Wittig

Meet two of the organizers of one of the first extensive electronic literature projects—a novel written by anonymous contributors in the city of Seattle on a BBS in the eighties.

Endless Suburbs—M.D. Coverly (Marjorie C. Luesebrink)

From the author of Califa—a rich multimedia work that takes you on a ride through the history of the golden state in text, image, and music.

My Body—Shelley Jackson

The Seattle author of the popular hypertext retelling of Mary Shelly's story, Patchwork Girl, presents an avant-garde web work.

Downtime Interactive—Rob Swigart

Science fiction author and creator of the early (Amiga) text adventure, Portal, Swigart demonstrates his forthcoming work of cyber-noir, Downtime Interactive.

tank20 Literary Studios—Rob Wittig

Author and commentator Wittig brings Gothic drama and Renaissance romance onto the web and into the office with Friday's Big Meeting and the Marsha Project.

The Unknown—William Gillespie, Scott Rettberg,
and Dirk Stratton

Cowinner of the 1998 trAce/AltX international hypertext competition, join three authors with a little ambition on a worldwide book tour gone terribly wrong.

ELECTRONIC LITERATURE ORGANIZATION

www.eliterature.org

Featuring:

Invisible Seattle—Philip Wohlstetter and Rob Wittig

Meet two of the organizers of one of the first extensive electronic literature projects—a novel written by anonymous contributors in the city of Seattle on a BBS in the eighties.

Endless Suburbs—M.D. Coverly (Marjorie C. Luesebrink)

From the author of Califa—a rich multimedia work that takes you on a ride through the history of the golden state in text, image, and music.

My Body—Shelley Jackson

The Seattle author of the popular hypertext retelling of Mary Shelly's story, Patchwork Girl, presents an avant-garde web work.

Downtime Interactive—Rob Swigart

Science fiction author and creator of the early (Amiga) text adventure, Portal, Swigart demonstrates his forthcoming work of cyber-noir, Downtime Interactive.

tank20 Literary Studios—Rob Wittig

Author and commentator Wittig brings Gothic drama and Renaissance romance onto the web and into the office with Friday's Big Meeting and the Marsha Project.

The Unknown—William Gillespie, Scott Rettberg,
and Dirk Stratton

Cowinner of the 1998 trAce/AltX international hypertext competition, join three authors with a little ambition on a worldwide book tour gone terribly wrong.

Richard Bangs and Pamela Roberson
Cordially Invite You and a Guest to an evening of Cocktails and Interactive Readings
in support of the

ELECTRONIC LITERATURE ORGANIZATION

At the home of Richard Bangs
2608 176th Place N.E.*
Redmond, Washington
Thursday, May 25
6-9 p.m.

Directions and a map are enclosed.

RSVP by May 12

Contact: Anne Schott

Phone: 206.706.5708

EMail: Schott@eliterature.org

We encourage you to park and take a shuttle from: Audubon Elementary School 3045 180th Ave., N.E. Redmond

www.eliterature.org

ELECTRONIC LITERATURE ORGANIZATION

Mission of the Electronic Literature Organizations

To Promote and Facilitate the Writing, Reading, and Publishing of Literature in Electronic Media.

Board of Directors

Jeff Ballowe, President
Mark Bernstein
Peter Bernstein, Treasurer
Robert Coover
Gene DeRose
Marjorie C. Luesebrink
Celia O'Donnell
Cathy Marshall, Secretary
Stuart Moulthrop
Anne Schott
Rob Swigart
William Wadsworth

Richard Bangs and Pamela Roberson
Cordially Invite You and a Guest to an evening of Cocktails and Interactive Readings
in support of the

ELECTRONIC LITERATURE ORGANIZATION

At the home of Richard Bangs
2608 176th Place N.E.*
Redmond, Washington
Thursday, May 25
6-9 p.m.

Directions and a map are enclosed.

RSVP by May 19

Contact: Anne Schott

Phone: 206.706.5708

EMail: Schott@eliterature.org

We encourage you to park and take a shuttle from: Audubon Elementary School 3045 180th Ave., N.E. Redmond