Online Writing Courses for Creative People

at The Nottingham Trent University

With users in over a hundred countries and thousands of hits every day, trAce is widely recognised as the most significant community of writers in the world. Five years of working online have given us a wealth of knowledge in making you feel comfortable on the web and ensuring that your voice is heard.

At the trAce Online Writing School, you'll develop close working relationships with your tutors and fellow-students as you participate via the website, email and chat.

During your course you'll enjoy free access to the shared writers' workshop where all students gather to exchange and discuss work. And because the trAce Writing School is entirely web-based, you can learn at times to suit you and even keep up with your studies wherever you are.
