

“Ball” is a trio of animations in frames. Each section has a title, rather like chapters. The opening for this single page piece is basket.html .

The dynamic is about sports, specifically basketball, versus the southern attitude during my formative years. Sports were not considered feminine and my femininity was fragile!

I love the pacing of this piece, the wild animation.

Hope this can be saved and shown.